HEDGE FACT SHEET: DECIDUOUS

We are proud to be sole supplier of the unique UK grown Elveden Instant Hedge™ - a true 'Instant Hedge'. It is a mature hedge, fully knitted together and sold by the linear metre, not as individual plants. Grown at the Elveden Estate in East Anglia, since 1998 this product has been developed and extensively trialled to ensure that it is an effective and robust hedge. Elveden Instant Hedge comes in various species, please see below for the choice of our deciduous instant hedge and separate sheet for evergreen species:

Common Name	Latin name	Instant Hedge	Leaf detail
Berberis	Berberis thunbergii
This hedge can form an impenetrable barrier; it produces a thorny, seasonally interesting, hedge. Good for urban areas as it tolerates pollution; it is also frost hardy and is happy to be clipped.
Green Beech	Fagus sylvatica
This is a popular choice for a hedge, with prominently veined green leaves turn yellow-orange in Autumn and often remain through the winter. It does well on most well drained soils and is particularly happy on chalk.
Hornbeam	Carpinus betulus
Similar to Beech, with prominently veined elliptical dark green leaves turn yellow-brown in the autumn. The leaves often remain into spring. Thrives in most soils including chalk, clay and damp conditions; happy in either sun or partial shade.
Purple Beech	Fagus sylvatica 'Purpurea'
This makes a distinctive hedge, with its green/purple leaves turn red/brown in the autumn and often remain through winter. It is happy on most soils and thrives in chalk.
Native Mix	A combination of deciduous species
Our Native Mix currently contains Hazel, Hawthorn, Dogwood, Blackthorn and Alder Buckthorn, all of which are indigenous species to the UK. Native Mix creates a natural look and contains a variety of colours, textures and fruits. Excellent for seasonal interest.
